WEEKLY BULLETIN OF THE MCCE

From 25 September to 2 October 2026

A European report warns of serious operational weaknesses and lack of coordination against large-scale cyberattacks

A strategic assessment of EU defences warns of the critical vulnerability of essential infrastructures to coordinated digital incidents. The analysis points to persistent deficiencies in joint response capacity and timely information exchange between member countries.

+ More information

The United States creates an artificial intelligence military force

The White House will structure a unified military command dedicated to artificial intelligence through the deployment of the so-called 'AI Force'. The initiative envisages appointing a special commissioner to coordinate the supercomputing strategy.

+ More information

Spain needs cybersecurity integrated with the economy

The advance of the digital economy increases the mismatch between digitalisation and the effective protection of information networks. Cybersecurity requires transcending the traditional technical approach to consolidate shared governance.

+ More information

WEEKLY BULLETIN OF THE MCCE

From 25 September to 2 October 2026

EU defence assessment

Further details on the identified weaknesses in European response to large-scale cyber incidents.

+ More information

US AI Force

Updates on the structure and objectives of the new US military AI command.

+ More information

Other news

Integrated cybersecurity

Analysis of the need to align digital economy advances with robust cybersecurity governance.

+ More information

Coordination gaps

Reports on the lack of timely information exchange among EU member states.

+ More information